ORGANIZATIONAL EVENTS

Do you need a sales presentation or new product announcement video for your representatives in the field or branch offices? Have you ever considered creating a procedural video on how things should be done and done right the first time? How about a Research & Development video for Home Office use, or perhaps just a montage of embarrassing and interesting moments from the Annual Convention or Holiday Party? With our many years experience in video production and a staff of seasoned procedural and production script writers, directors and production designers to utilize, Memories Preservation MultiMedia has the ability to write, orchestrate, produce, and edit a cost-effective production to meet just about every small to medium sized business's requirements.

Are you launching a new product or service program? Trying to increase sales revenue in an existing or expanding market? Need to develop an edge on your competition? Then speak with one of our producers today to discuss your project and find out how we might assist you. Project prices are custom designed with virtually every project but can be estimated after your free, no obligation, initial requirements consultation.

ORGANIZATIONAL PACKAGES AND PRICING

Our prices reflect charges from concept to completion and are custom designed for your specific project requirements.
